Frankfort Board O.K.'s Pavilion Plan

Work on the pavilion for Frankfort Community park is expected to be started this spring. Plans for the project were approved by the village board Monday night when they were submitted by Mrs. Irving Rudman, head of the SPC which is sponsoring the move.

Mrs. Rudman told village officials that the committee has raised some $1,500 and expects to have the remainder, approximately $800 in time to complete the initial phase of the program.

It is planned to erect a pavilion 32 by 24 feet, so designed that eventually three more sections can be added. The sides would be open and the floor constructed of cement so it could be used for dancing as well as provide shelter for picnickers or outdoor meetings.

The SPC -- swimming pool committee -- was originally formed to promote a swimming pool for Frankfort but when the project failed to meet with sufficient response the members changed their objectives. For over a year now the group has devoted long hours and a lot of work in raising the funds for the pavilion and now success is in sight, Mrs. Rudman said. The SPC has also raised money to provide for more trees in the park.

Voice Protests To Establishing Junior College District

If attendance at a meeting in the Lincoln-Way high school auditorium on Wednesday night of last week represented a cross section of the district, the sentiment of the area is against affiliation with a community junior college district made up of Cook County high schools.

The expression evidenced at the discussion indicated considerable opposition to the proposal, especially in the New Lenox area.

The proposition that has stirred debate in the Lincoln-Way district is that it join with six high schools in southwest Cook County to form a community junior college district under a new law passed by the state legislature in 1959. Such a college district could levy taxes, buy land, erect buildings and hire teachers.

It was estimated that about 350 persons attended the Wednesday night meeting (the auditorium seats 654) and a majority of them appeared to be against the establishment of a college district, at least one that would put Lincoln-Way into a Cook county set up. This is not surprising, observers say, pointing out there has always been a mutual suspicion between residents of Cook county and those who reside outside its borders, each thinking the other is seeking an advantage over the other.

Lewis Loebe, of New Lenox, of the central citizens consulting committee, a body that has been studying school needs in the district served as a moderator and introduced members of a four-man panel, William Welsch, lumber dealer of Mokena and a member of the citizens' junior college survey committee; Dr. Raymond Karnes, U. of I. department of education and one of the consultants for the junior college survey; Harold Miller, New Lenox, a member of the Joliet high school and junior college faculty, and William Penn, New Lenox, an attorney.

Miller and Penn spoke against the junior college district. Welsch spoke for it and Dr. Karnes outlined the advanced education program in Illinois. He explained that he was not there to argue on the local situation, on one side or the other.

He did say that he would not have set up the proposed college district the way it stands but did not amplify his remark nor say how he would have fixed its boundaries.

He said the junior college law as passed in 1959 was a step in the right direction but that it needed to be changed in some respects. He said -- to use his own words -- Illinois was heading for a terrible mess in the administration of its educational program and deplored the fact that there is no state school board to set policy.

There are 674 high school districts in the state, he said, and 16 junior colleges, five of them operated by the Chicago school system and the others by high school districts.

The proposed SW junior college district in which Lincoln-Way is involved, if established, would be the first of its kind in the state, he said. He added that the purpose of the junior college act was to provide higher education to larger numbers of students. However the districts are set up they are not likely to meet with local approval, he said, and added that certainly the portions where the population was greatest would dominate the board. He did not think that geography was important in selecting board members; the main concern, he declared, is to elect a board that will best serve the school and the students. Lincoln-Way district might not be represented on the proposed college district board, he said, but on the other hand there was no guarantee it would be represented on, say, a board to serve a district centered in Joliet.

Mr. Welsch explained that the move for a junior college district for the area was initiated in Evergreen Park; originally there were 10 high school districts involved but that later three of them, Bremen, Rich and Homewood -- Flossmoor withdrew, leaving Blue Island, Argo, Reavis, Oak Lawn, Evergreen Park, Carl Sandburg and Lincoln-Way. Lincoln-Way was the last to join the move.

"We are a small district and relatively a poor one," Welsch said, "and it seemed to the board and the survey group from Lincoln-Way that it was a good opportunity to be part of a strong school with a comprehensive program at little cost."

The assessed valuation is such--about $670-million now with the seven high schools--he said that the survey committee estimated the college could be built and operated on a tax levy of approximately 24 cents per $100 of equalized assessed valuation. The school would have a campus of 180 to 200 acres, he said, and he believed it would be located within 10 or 12 miles of the Lincoln-Way district.

Besides Mr. Welsch the members of the survey committee from Lincoln-Way were: Paul Beedle, C. L. Klasing, Jr. and Frank Mlakar, of New Lenox, Elias A. Brown, Lawrence Kohl, Lyman Teague (since moved out of state) of Mokena; Floyd Martin, Lincoln Estates; Wendell Morrison and Howard Remien, of Frankfort; Dr. Lawrence D. Lee, J. D. D'Amico, assistant superintendent at Lincoln-Way, and Robert Rauworth, of Manhattan.

Mr. Miller pointed out that if a junior college district is established the board will be the one to decide where the school would be located and he doubted if it would be within 10 or 12 miles of the Lincoln-Way district. Transportation is difficult under the best of circumstances, he said, but it would be worse trying to get to the proposed new college for area students than it would for them to go to Joliet. He also said he doubted if the new district could get by on a 24-cent levy and believed it would be much more. It could be as much as 60 cents without a referendum, he warned. He also pointed out that according to the brochure outlining the proposed college district that it was planned to charge $120 a year tuition for pupils living in the boundaries in addition to the taxes. He believed Lincoln-Way's place was in a Will County district, in the event one should be formed. He believed a tax should have been voted to provide tuition for Lincoln-Way students who wanted to go to a junior college. He also stated that before taking any action the Lincoln-Way board should have had meetings like the one Wednesday to apprise the public as to what was going on.

(Editor's Note: There was considerable newspaper coverage in the area relating to the proposed junior college district before action was taken and school authorities say the subject was discussed before parent groups, grade school board members and other organizations.)

Attorney Penn said it would be cheaper to levy a tax to pay tuition than to become a part of the proposed junior college district.

He pointed out that it cost Lockport high school district taxpayers a levy of 16 1/2 cents to cover tuition for 100 students attending junior college at Joliet. In view of the lesser cost and the proximity of Joliet he wanted to know why the people of the Lincoln-Way district were not given an opportunity to vote on the tuition proposal.

The hearing on the petition for a referendum on the proposed junior college district has been concluded, the petition approved and unless someone files a law suit under the administrative review act, there will be an election within the next 40 days, Mr. Penn pointed out.

Dr. William French, superintendent of the Joliet high school and his assistant, John French (no relation) were in the audience.

There was a question and answer period but most of the time was taken up with speeches from the floor or with questions on points that had already been disposed of.

L-W Board Willing To Drop Out Of SW Jr. College Dist.

If legally possible the Lincoln-Way high school board is willing to withdraw from the proposed southwest suburban junior college district.

At the same time it is asking the Joliet high school board to submit a written statement as to what it proposes for establishment of a possible Will county junior college district which would include the Lincoln-Way high school district.

These statements were issued by the Lincoln-Way high school board of education following a special meeting called by its president, Albert H. Krusemark, to discuss the proposed SW junior college district and agree upon a policy covering same.

Board members wanted it made clear that at no time have they sought to force acceptance by the public of any junior college program unacceptable to the people.

It was pointed out that there has been considerable publicity given the SW district plan for more than a year but it was only in the past few weeks that any objections were ever voiced.

The Cook county superintendent of schools is to set a date, later for a referendum on the question as to whether such a district should be formed. To carry the proposition would have to carry in both incorporated as well as unincorporated areas.

The position taken by the Lincoln-Way board in this issue was reached by unanimous decision of the members at the special meeting. It is:

1) "The Board of Education of Lincoln-Way high school has never intended and does not now intend to promote or foster any junior college district upon the people of our district that is not approved by the voters of this district. The board will use every means available to disseminate to the voters of this district all information concerning all sides of the issue of both the proposed junior college district and the possible formation of an enlarged Will county junior college district. We ask all of the voters of our district to cooperate with us and to become informed as fully as possible on these issues before any election is held."

"The proposed Southwest Junior college was approved for voter consideration only after the completion of the survey and study conducted by the various law committees. The Lincoln-Way board of education then considered it their obligation to give the voters an opportunity to approve or reject the issue.

2) "The board of education does not wish to have any situation exist in which our area becomes a part of any junior college district which is not approved by the voters of our own high school district but which may be approved by the voters of the larger junior college area. Therefore, in order to avoid this situation and because of the peculiar provisions of the junior college law, we are instructing the attorney for our board of education immediately to investigate any possible legal action at the time to withdraw from the proposed junior college district or to file objections thereto."

3) "In the event that it is determined by a court of competent jurisdiction that our area is to be included and shall vote on the proposed junior college district and in the event that the voters of the Lincoln-Way high school district vote against such a proposed junior college district, then the board of education of Lincoln-Way high school will take immediate steps to have our area detached from this junior college district. It would appear that this can be done legally under the general provisions of the school code concerning annexation and detachment.

"The board is only interested in the educational opportunities for the students of this district and in furnishing these opportunities to the students at the lowest possible cost to the tax payer of the district. For that purpose it is requested that a written statement or proposal be obtained from the Joliet board of education of the Joliet junior college district as to their proposals for including our high school district in a possible Will county junior college district. The Joliet board should also provide an explanation of the physical facilities that would be available, the cost thereof and the proposed tax rate for such a district and the proposed assessed valuation."

Next Monday Is Last Day To Register For Voting

Monday, March 12, is the last day on which Will county voters can register for the coming primary elections.

New residents, who have lived a year in the state, 90 days in the county, and 30 days in the precinct -- and are citizens -- are entitled to vote in Illinois if they are registered.

Such new residents should register as should those who have become 21 years old or will have attained that age by April 10, date of the primaries this year.

Others who should register, if they have not already done so, are those who have changed their names by marriage or court action.

Residents of Will county who have moved within its boundaries since registering must change their address for voting. This is simply done.

One can appear before the local registrar, or at the county clerk's office in the courthouse at Joliet; by sending a post card or letter to the county clerk at Joliet, giving name and the old and new address, or one can mail in his registration card after filling in the new address on the space provided for the purpose on the back, and signing it.

If there are any questions about registration the best thing to do, it was stated, is call the county clerk's office at Joliet, Saratoga 6-4483.

Persons who wish to register locally can go to the registrars assigned for their area but are reminded again that Monday, March 12 is the last day on which one may register if he wants to vote in the primary.

Local registrars are: Frankfort township, Harold J. Cooper, town clerk Cooper - Hostert garage, Mokena; Burnett W. Schram, barber shop, Ash st., Frankfort; Edna T. Wiegand, Lincoln Estates.

New Lenox township, Roy A. Minger, town clerk, 112 Ash st., and Edith Sayers, 204 N. Cedar rd., New Lenox.

Manhattan township, Thomas J. Riley Sr., town clerk, Manhattan.

Green Garden township, Clinton G. Mark, town clerk.

Homer township, Clarence J. Wies, town clerk, and Barney N. Welter.

Mokena F.D. Proposes Fire Protection Dist.

Formation of a fire protection district to be served by the Mokena Community Volunteer Fire Department has been launched by that department and a hearing on the petition is scheduled before County Judge John C. Cowing April 9.

According to J. Hinton Massey, attorney for the petitioners, the proposed district includes Sections 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 16, 17 and 18 in Frankfort township; a large portion of Section 25 and a small portion of Section 26 in Homer township, and Sections 28, 29, 30, 31 and 32, and the west quarters of Sections 37 and 34, in Orland township.

The south line would run roughly about half a mile north of U.S. 30 or the north line of the Frankfort fire protection district, and extend from east of U. S. 45 to the West line of Frankfort township.

In all there are 18 sections of land involved, Attorney Massey said. He explained that at the hearing set for April 9 any objections may appear and be heard.

If at that time the court finds the district will meet a need, an election will be ordered, under the law pertaining to the formation of fire districts the proposal must be approved by a majority vote in both the incorporated and the unincorporated areas. In the case of the Mokena district there would be one polling place in the village of Mokena and one outside which would serve the unincorporated portions. Should the proposition fail to carry in one of the areas it would fail.

If the district is organized then the fire department would be supported through a tax. As it is now the department must depend upon the contributions of the public. It has been subsidizing on receipts from dances and other benefits but of late such endeavors have not produced sufficient revenue. Because of the increasing population the department has had to acquire additional equipment and it should have more, it was said, to meet the recommendations of the fire underwriters who make the insurance rates for communities.

Frankfort has formed such a district and New Lenox has been operating under one for several years. Lockport has a fire protection district and there are two in Homer township.

New Sales Mark Set By Edison

Increases in use of electricity by all major classes of customers enabled Commonwealth Edison Company to set a new sales record in 1961, according to the annual report issued this week.

The report, signed by J. Harris Ward, chairman, and Willis Gale, chairman of the executive committee, showed that sales exceeded 23 billion kilowatt-hours for the first time and were 5.3 per cent above the total for 1960.

Residential sales increased 7.2 per cent with average residential use reaching 3,181 kilowatt-hours, compared with 3,023 in 1960. Small commercial and industrial sales were 4.4 per cent higher while large commercial and industrial sales rose 4.8 per cent.

Operating revenues totaled $492,242,032 in 1961 compared with $469,429,697 in 1960.

The utility's net income in 1961 was $82,663,694, equal after allowance for preferred dividends to $2.01 a share on 39,634,383 shares of common stock. This compares with $77,926,695, or $1.93 a share in 1960.

"Our higher earnings in 1961," the report stated, "resulted mainly from increased business activity during the last eight months of the year. Improved operating efficiency and our continuing program to hold down expenses also helped."

"So far in 1962, our kilowatt-hour sales and revenues have shown increases. Barring unforeseen circumstances, we expect the existing trends to continue and we look forward to the moderate rise in net income needed to support our growing investment in plant."

What is the history of our so-called farm problem?

During World War I -- way back in 1918 -- the law of "supply and demand," as it applies to farm products, was upset and the imbalance has been with us ever since.

After we entered World War II in 1941, support prices for farm crops were pegged at "85% of parity" to encourage maximum farm production. Parity prices were jacked up to 90% in 1948 to stimulate greater production for the use of friendly nations whose agricultural production had been disrupted by war.

From then on, both the Democratic and the Republican Parties vied with each other in promoting farm price supports, dictated not by economic necessity but for political purposes -- to win the farm votes.

The theme song of the Kennedy farm plan is all-out compulsion. In essence, the program means strictly policed farm production and market quotas. It is very doubtful that the majority of the American farmers will swallow "the bitter medicine of Federal regimentation."

It is a fact that during the last 10 years, under the restricted acreage program, corn production has increased from an average of 44 bushels per acre to an average of 60.5 bushels per acre. This is the result of the new hybrid corn breeds. They are frost, blight, and insect resistant which, added to high-power fertilizers, are constantly producing higher yields of corn per acre. Restricted acres accompanied by higher yields per acre have not solved the farm surplus problem.

Congress has failed to "grasp the farm-nettle firmly," and the "curse of plenty" has worsened steadily. The "self-adjusting system of free enterprise" has been displaced by political programs which now are to be replaced by government controls.

Washington News Letter

BY CONG. N.M. MASON

HIGHWAY ROBBERY: For the first 20 years of the New Deal Congressman Robert Rich (R-Pa.) took the Floor almost daily and asked, "Where's the money coming from?" New Deal spending was a headache to his businesslike mind.

President Kennedy is and has always been a millionaire. He has never had to "count the cost" of anything he wanted. He knows nothing at first hand about how difficult it is for the average American to "pay his way", have children and put them through school, meet family sickness emergencies, or wait a long time before buying some household convenience. The average American has to struggle to meet life's needs, something the President has never experienced.

The government is not an earner; the government is a spender -- a spender of other people's money, 80% of the government's money coming from the average American who earns less than $6,000 per year.

Federal taxes have become one of the largest items in the average American's budget. Before the government can spend a dollar it must first take it from the American taxpayer. Anything the President says he will GIVE to the people he must first TAKE AWAY from the people.

From George Washington on down through World War II (1788 to 1944), the American people paid in taxes all told $248 billion. Since then the Federal government has taxed us about twice that amount. That is, during the last 17 years the American people have paid in taxes twice as much as they paid during the 156 years of our history.

"Taxation without representation is tyranny!" Modern taxation is highway robbery! NEW DEMOCRATIC FARM PROPOSAL: The President's farm proposal suggests the story of "the carrot on a stick held in front of the mule to get the mule to pull the plough". It won't work. The American farmer is not a dumb mule -- far from it.

What is the history of our so-called farm problem? During World War I -- way back in 1918 -- the law of "supply and demand," as it applies to farm products, was upset and the imbalance has been with us ever since.

After we entered World War II in 1941, support prices for farm crops were pegged at "85% of parity" to encourage maximum farm production. Super-shennanigans- - -

The current superhighway project is the greatest public works project ever undertaken in this country. It was a "must" proposal of President Eisenhower's, who laid special stress on its military significance. It includes 41,000 miles of the most advanced type of high-speed highway. The cost, originally estimated at $27.5 billion, has been upped by about 50 per cent to $41 billion -- and there is every likelihood that it may soar again before the completion date is reached 10 years from now.

Yet, writes Jack Anderson in Parade, "Investigators are finding graft and fraud, thievery and bribery around every curve. They are learning that the broad new highways are paved with waste, inefficiency and boondoggling. More pathetically, they are discovering that many property owners have been cruelly victimized and virtually robbed of their homes by ruthless and unfair condemnation procedures."

Mr. Anderson, who is Parade's Washington correspondent, does not, of course, pull such harsh indictments out of his hat. He bases his article on an all-out investigation of the highway program being conducted by a special House committee headed by Representative Blatnik of Minnesota. What has been unearthed so far can be summed up in a statement by the committee's chief counsel: "Throw a dart at a map of the United States. Wherever it sticks, we can find something wrong with the new highways."

Some of the waste, no doubt, can be attributed to the eagerness, inexperience, or incompetence of local officials who had never seen such a wonderful flood of money before and wanted to use it as quickly as possible. But outright thievery and dishonesty have been rampant. Mr. Anderson cites, giving chapter and verse, incident after incident. Among them:

An operator of a sodding company admitted to having committed perjury before a grand jury, by hiding the fact that a state highway commissioner was his secret partner. He then asked police protection, claiming that he had been warned: "I can get anyone killed for $500 to $1,000."

The wife of an engineer received similar threats, in an effort to force her husband to go light in testimony concerning contract violations on a $2.5 million stretch of highway.

In one state, close to $75,000 in gifts was traced from contractors to highway engineers. A highway engineer collected $27,000 a month rent on two tractors bought for $8,900. In another case, a highway engineer managed to take in $4,613 in rent for a water truck that didn't even exist.

These are obvious instances of graft. As Mr. Anderson points out, such bigger operations as bid-fixing and hidden interests are harder to run down. But there seems no doubt that these, along with the appraisal racket, which enables those with the right connections to get out-of-this-world settlements, have robbed the taxpayers of huge sums of money. On the other hand people without pull have been bluffed and bulldozed into selling their property for a fraction of the value.

Then there are the costly and elaborate installations that almost no one has any use for. Mr. Anderson cites this as an example: "An elaborate clover-leaf... has been constructed in the wilds of Montana. It has 24 signs which tell a farmer and his family (the only people who use it) how to go places they have been going for generations."

What can be done about this enormous graft and waste? Representative Blatnik says: "The public can help most by getting mad. In too many localities, the people take a politicians-will-be-politicians attitude. In a democracy, nothing curbs corruption as effectively as an aroused citizenry."

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

If, as we have sometimes suspected, there is a contest on among the governmental agencies and bureaus at Washington each month for the screwiest ideas for chucking taxpayers' money down the drain, your correspondent would like to nominate the National Institutes of Health.

The National Institutes of Health, operated by the Public Health Service, has come up with a doozy.

Most people will agree without too much argument that there is a lot of monkey business that goes on in the operation of government bureaus. But the Public Health Service, thru the National Institutes of Health, has made monkey business big business.

From Washington has come a report that the Public Health Service has wangled $1,201,925 for the National Institutes of Health to spend in determining whether a monkey loves its mother, and if so, why.

"Sheer genius," was the accolade given by Jefferson P. Throthelbottom, an ardent disciple of the something-for-nothing school. "Yes, sir, the man who thought that one up should go far in the field of government as we know it today."

"I have no doubt but that all the bureaus in Washington have their bird scouts out to track this bird down and endeavor to hire him away from the health crowd."

"He's a marvel, that boy," Jeff enthused. "Can you imagine a more useless thing to spend money on than this business of whether a baby monkey loves its mama and why?"

"But in paying homage to the man who had the idea," Jeff went on, "we must not overlook the person or persons who got the appropriation thru at a time like this when the federal deficit is several billions a year and the public debt is around the $300-billion mark. To gouge out almost a million and a quarter dollars for a useless bit of information must have taken quite a bit of doing."

"Congressmen have to go back home to get votes and this monkey business is just the kind of a crazy issue that could beat a man if it were found that he was for it. The only thing saves a lot of these congressmen is the public's short memory. If the public ever started to vote against the mispending of its money there would be less of all kinds of monkey business with public funds."

And when I hear of something like this I am glad I do not have a job where Uncle Sam can take a piece of my pay every week. I might get to thinking whether it was going to pay for someone to count the hairs in a horse's coat to find out if a gray horse has more than a black horse or if it just looks that way."

"It seems to me," Jeff went on, "that the sum of $1,201,925 to finance this research on the love between a mama monkey and a baby monkey is about $1,201,900 too high."

"I think that if the Health Institutes want an answer to the question they could get it by spending around $25 on toll calls to various zoos."

"I see that the Industrial Press Service had been going along for years on the assumption that baby monkeys loved their mama monkeys very much. And when this business of spending real money to find the answer came up one of its men telephoned Joseph Davis, associate curator of mammals at the New York Zoological Park and put the question."

"Of course baby monkeys are affectionate," Mr. Davis is quoted as saying. "They have a very close relationship with their mothers. Most baby monkeys cling to their mammas for several months before being separated as much as a few inches."

"It seems to me," Jeff wound up, "that if calls to some of the top zoo directors in the country came up with answers similar to

Hinta For Homeowners

One of the most important parts of having a good lawn, is maintaining proper fertility levels. A soil test will help you establish the availability of plant nutrients in the soil. Soil tests are usually made to determine the amounts of nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium in the soil.

Nitrogen is usually the most deficient grass nutrient since it is used by plants in relatively large amounts. It also leaches from the soil or is otherwise easily removed. Nitrogen can be replaced in the soil through the application of any of a variety of common nitrogenous compounds.

Super-phosphate or another phosphorus-containing fertilizer may be used to supply phosphorus to the soil. Similarly, potassium may be added as muriate of potash or some other potassium compound.

A complete fertilizer can be used to supply nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium, 10-8-6, 10-8-4, and 15-5-5 are examples of complete fertilizers recommended for use on lawns. In 10-8-6 the 10 indicates the percentage of nitrogen contained in the fertilizer material, 8 the percent phosphorus (phosphoric acid), and 6 the percent potassium (potash). Thus 100 lbs. of the material would contain 10 lbs. of nitrogen, 8 lbs. of phosphorus, and 6 lbs. of potassium.

There are four general classes of nitrogen fertilizers: ammonium, nitrate, natural organic, and synthetic organic.

The ammonium and nitrate materials are relatively inexpensive and quick acting. These materials are soluble, and should be used at relatively low rates to prevent burning and still maintain adequate soil nitrogen. Frequent applications of small amounts of ammonium and nitrate materials will usually give satisfactory results. Ammonium nitrate, a common fertilizer, contains both nitrate and ammonium nitrogen.

The organic fertilizers, such as activated sewage sludge and animal tankage, contain nitrogen in quite variable amounts, and may also contain phosphorus and potassium. Organic nitrogen is usually in a water-soluble form and will not cause burning of the turf when supplied in large amounts. The availability of this form of nitrogen is dependent upon weather conditions. In cold weather nitrogen may NOT be released in adequate amounts for good plant growth. Warm and humid conditions cause more nitrogen to become available causing the grass to be in a succulent condition at an inopportune time. The organic fertilizers may improve soil conditions by adding a certain amount of organic matter to the soil.

Synthetic organic nitrogen (urea-form) is a recent development in the fertilizer industry. The urea-forms have a relatively uniform release of nitrogen. This material is rather long lasting. In many areas one application of urea-form per season will give satisfactory results. It is safe to use, and doesn't cause succulent growth. The expense of this material is one of its chief drawbacks.

There are many recommendations for lawn fertility programs. Most of these programs will give good results. A common recommendation made for home lawns is two applications of fertilizer a year. An application of 2 lbs. of actual nitrogen per 1000 sq. ft. applied in March and again in early September should give good results. It must be remembered that this is actual nitrogen and not the rate for the material as it comes from the bag. In addition to the fertilizer applied in March and September another light application may be made in late spring, particularly on Merion Bluegrass. Sometimes better results are obtained with more frequent applications at lighter rates.

Another recommendation is for urea-form at a rate of from 10 to 15 lbs. of material from the bag per 1000 sq. ft. applied either in the spring or fall. Liquid fertilizers are becoming more widely available. In selecting which type of material to use check the ease of application and the cost of the nutrients supplied. Remember that with fertilizers it is not the container that counts, but what's in it.

Business & Finance

Agencies which forecast sales of consumer items are pointing to the increases indisputable per capita and speculating as to which particular line will receive the greatest consumer attention.

For the last few months predictions of Fortune magazine as to general business trend, has been somewhat more optimistic than many other financial sources. Current financial data is confirming Fortune's predictions.

The magazines current business survey notes that there is considerable room for consumer debt increase as this item is now rather low in relation to personal income figures. Expansion of installment debt is likely. The article expects sales of goods per capita, to expand faster than per capita income since savings position of the consumer is strong. Total sales of goods in 1962 may be as much as 11 per cent greater than 1961.

Fortune market survey calculations for 1962 were projected at 7,200,000 and are now running at the rate of 7,000,000 with likelihood that the projected figure may be exceeded. The formula used for projecting auto sales is based on personal income figures and percentage used for automobile purchases. A deficit in sales for one or two years, will usually be adjusted by increased sales in the next year.

An increase in the above projected figure is expected due to fast sales in last two years have been below projections. Also there are newly created families and an increase in suburban living with two-car homes.

Recently there has been an increased interest in the automobile accessory field. For some reason, this special field did not attract too much public attention until a few months ago when some of the privately owned firms offered their stock to the public with publicity on their business picture.

It is pointed out that the total accessory and parts business is about a third of the amount spent on new cars. It is also brought out that parts replacement business has been resistant to the down side of the business cycle. Some investment analysts have been pointing out that there has been a substantial increase in spending for new plant and equipment.

The administration is now working on a proposal to give industry an 8 per cent allowance on investment in new plant equipment as a credit against taxes. The treasury also is expected to liberalize depreciation allowances. Announcement of this may come very soon. These tax changes and tax credits on new machinery purchases are expected to add substantially to such sales. Present order backlog of such firms, is confirming predictions of expanding business.

The University of Illinois is holding an open house Saturday, April 7 for all high school students interested in agriculture or home economics. Starting at 9 a.m., prospective students will learn about educational and career opportunities, scholarships, admission requirements, housing, costs, and campus life. University President David Dodds Henry will speak to all prospective students at 11 a.m. It seems to me, this program offers an excellent opportunity for prospective college students to get a bird's eye view of their Land Grant College.

March 3 through the 10 is National 4-H Club Week in Illinois. Governor Otto Kerner has made an official proclamation for observance of this week. In making the proclamation, the Governor cited the eight thousand adult leaders in Illinois for their part in developing responsibility and leadership in the more than seventy-five thousand youth in the Illinois 4-H program.

Locally 4-H Week is being observed through many activities conducted by 4-H Clubs throughout the county. Many windows and business and professional buildings will be decorated to draw attention to the activities being carried on by 4-H Club members, and local clubs will be having additional observances in their home communities.

According to recent statistics, cattle numbers have reached a record high. Subsequently, consumers may get an extra beef dinner or two, this year. It is anticipated that the slight increase in supply will be offset by additional demand.

Farmers have until March 30, to make the decision to sign up in the Feed-Grain program. For those making the decision to participate, the diverted land offers an excellent opportunity to carry out some planned conservation practices, such as sod waterways. Farmers having land coming out of the soil bank this year, will have to divert a like amount of land into conserving uses to maintain their conservation base.

Grass and legume seed supplies are just about adequate. It will pay to get your supplies as soon as possible. If supplies become short, don't be stampeded into the purchase of lower priced foreign varieties, particularly in legumes, as foreign seeds do not yield on par with domestic seeds.

Raps Jr. College Slate
Dear Sir:

We all know that the L-W bond issue was defeated by 69 votes in the referendum of February 24. This is a first defeat of a bond issue but could have been predicted from the record of previous votes: 1952, total votes cast were 1273, per cent of "yes" votes, 84; 1957, total votes cast were 828, per cent of "yes" votes, 77; 1958, total votes cast were 1294, per cent of "yes" votes 58. The vote last month showed the same downward trend: total votes cast, 2083 with the "yes" vote percentage, 48. This last was the largest vote in the series.

Perhaps under ordinary circumstances the downward trend might have leveled off and the percentage of "yes" votes remained above 50, for most people believe in education at the grade and high school level, at least.

A new factor appeared in this election season, the proposed new junior college district. The L-W Board of Education, together with similar boards from nine other schools got together and formed a junior high school district (since that time three, Bremen, Rich, Homewood-Flossmoor have wisely withdrawn).

When a questioner at the forum held in Lincoln-Way High School last week asked why these districts had withdrawn from the proposed district the answer was given that they have the advantages of Thornton and Bloom Junior Colleges. A murmur ran through the auditorium, "And we have Joliet". Dr. French, of Joliet Junior College, responded to a question addressed to him, explaining that JJC has plans for expanding its facilities, it has never refused to accept our qualified students nor has it any such intentions. Joliet Junior College has an historic reputation for excellence in standards and performance, it is long established and recognized by leading colleges and universities. It takes years for a college to build such a reputation, to win unquestioned acceptance of its graduates to higher institutions of learning.

The L-W board did not ask us if their action met with our approval nor did the board ask us if we were interested in any such plan. It did however COMMIT the L-W district to this brand new "Cook county" junior college and we can only get out of it if the majority vote in the remaining seven high school districts is a "no" vote. To emphasize -- if our Lincoln-Way district is overwhelmingly opposed to the proposed junior college district and so votes, even then we are forced into the district if the Cook county districts vote "yes".

This action by the board practically guaranteed the defeat of the bond issue. The bond referendum provided a tangible way for the voters to register its vote of "no confidence". It is unfortunate that it had to be this way but it seems to be the only way to show the board that its action in committing us to something we were not consulted or asked about is bitterly resented.

Belatedly the public meeting was held at Lincoln-Way a few days after the bond defeat (2-28). In a well filled auditorium both sides of the proposed junior college were presented. The overwhelming sentiment was in opposition to the "Cook county" junior college and also resentment to the board and administration for committing us to it. This meeting should have been held before any commitments were made. Significantly the president of the board, the members of the board, and the principal of L-W did not defend their action, all (if present) were silent.

Therefore, it seems that the bond issue served as a means to show the board what amounts to a tacit invitation to get us out of the predicament or to resign. Another vote, or repeated votes, can have little hope for better success.

Either the members of our Lincoln-Way high school board are cynics with no faith in the ability of the people of their area to make the decision about joining the proposed new junior college district, or they are a group of incredibly naive men.

DEFENDS L-W BOARD

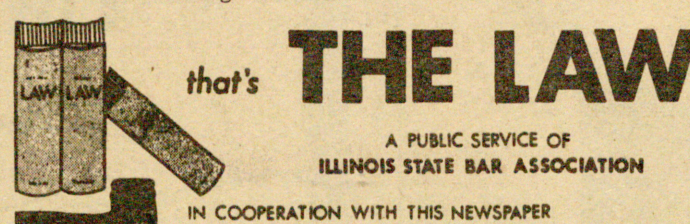

Dear Sir:

I attended the meeting at Lincoln-Way High School Feb. 28 concerning the proposed junior college district. While I am strictly in favor of a junior college, I think we are all losing sight of one very important fact. How can we think of a junior college when our present high-school is not sufficient for our needs and the bond issue was defeated Feb. 24? It seems to me we are running before we learn to walk upright. If all our grade schools and Lincoln-Way had ample room with no more bond issues foreseen, I can't think of a better way to spend my tax dollar than on higher education for all. But, let's take care of our front yard before we try to clear the woods!

I must speak in defense of our school board and superintendent. I know none of these men personally nor do I know any of their immediate families. Bearing in mind the fact that as members of the school board they are pledged to further the interests of our children's education, have they really done anything so wrong? Perhaps we ourselves are to be blamed for the situation that confronts us now? School board meetings are open to the public, I am sure. If we had attended some perhaps we would have had some idea of what was going on. We as citizens cannot, in all fairness to the men, elect them to a time-consuming and thankless job and expect them to do everything to our liking. They are expected to safeguard our educational system and they have done just that. Our superintendent, as an educator, is doing the job he was trained, hired, and paid to do. No one ever tells the board of all the good things it has done -- only the bad. Every bond issue is met with opposition -- they are "stinkers" to need money to do the job we elected them to do! Let's be honest people. They have acted as they saw best. Anyone of us could have attended a board meeting, but did we? Is the blame on the board or us?

I am violently opposed to the proposed junior college district, but I feel I have no one to blame but myself. The board has kept Lincoln-Way running smoothly and turned it into an institution we are all proud of. Let's not knock our school board; it needs our support. Remember, we made these men our board members, and if we have also made a mistake, we must accept it, try to correct it, and see that it does not happen again.

HOW BANKRUPTCY WORKS

Bernard Fisher was becoming frantic. His grocery business was losing money, he was unable to pay his bills as they came due, and he couldn't get new credit. He finally faced the fact that he should abandon the grocery business and return to his job of milkman, but he had heard that if he did so his creditors would obtain judgments against him and tie up his wages.

In desperation Bernard went to talk to a lawyer about bankruptcy. Bernard's lawyer explained that bankruptcy laws are designed to assist unpaid creditors as well as overburdened debtors. The debtor is given an opportunity to obtain a fresh financial start by having his debts erased, while at the same time creditors are allowed to share on an equal, prorated basis in whatever assets the debtor has at the time the petition in bankruptcy is filed.

All unsecured general creditors will be treated equally so they need not race one another through the courts in order to be first in line for what might be salvaged.

All bankruptcy proceedings are instituted in federal courts. They are of two general types, voluntary and involuntary. When the debtor himself institutes the proceeding it is called a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. Anyone who is unable to meet his obligations as they come due may bring a voluntary petition.

In contrast an involuntary petition is brought by creditors who force the debtor into the proceeding. An involuntary petition may not be filed until the debtor has committed what is known as an "act of bankruptcy", such as making a payment to a creditor on a previously incurred account at a time when both know the debtor is insolvent.

If Bernard decides to bring a voluntary petition, he must prepare a list of all his assets, debts and creditors. He files this in an appropriate court and the clerk of the court sends a notice of the filing of the petition to all creditors listed and of the day set for the first meeting of creditors.

The court will appoint a person to act as Bernard's "trustee in bankruptcy" and it is his duty to collect Bernard's assets. Each creditor must file a written statement setting out his claim against Bernard and a referee appointed by the court hears evidence as to the validity of any claim which is disputed by the trustee.

Likewise, any creditor has the right to question Bernard under oath and to search for hidden assets not listed in the petition.

When Bernard's assets and debts have been collected and valued, and if the court is convinced the petition is an honest one, the referee orders the trustee to liquidate the assets and distribute them, prorata, to the creditors. Bernard is then formally discharged from his liabilities.

If, however, it is discovered that he knowingly concealed any assets or engaged in some similar dishonesty the court may refuse to discharge him by denying the petition.

Students At LW To Get Special Tutoring Service

The Future Teachers of America Chapter of Lincoln-Way high school is sponsoring a tutoring program in the various towns that Lincoln-Way serves. About 200 students indicated a need for such a tutoring service in a survey conducted in January at the school. Approximately 450 students were contacted in the survey.

Special tutoring is available in about 20 different subjects of the Lincoln-Way curriculum. Part of the survey was to determine the various subjects where students felt the need for special help.

Mary McLaughlin, senior at Lincoln-Way, and National Honor Society member, is the chairman of the tutoring committee of the Lincoln-Way F.T.A. for home tutoring.

The entire program was started by parental requests made to the Lincoln-Way administration, Arthur Mackay, one faculty sponsor of the F.T.A., stated: "The background of the program is repeated requests made to A. Hunter Chapman, school principal, for some sort of tutoring on a home-community basis." Lincoln-Way has special tutoring during school hours.

The tutors are students from the high school. They are chosen for their understanding of the subject. A grade of B or above is required of the student who would volunteer.

Nineteen students have been selected for tutoring: Frankfort: Randy Wheeler, Gloria Carlson and Carol Jones; Manhattan: Carole Delaney, Terry Hartman and Alice Black; Mokena: Dennis Porick, Nancy Behen, Mary Lou Gertenrich, Betty Helgeson, Ann Lemke, Susan Mazurek and Paul Brown; New Lenox: Sandra Oldt, Gary Clerk, Betty Peterson, Mary McLaughlin, Carol Wilson and Linda Schwab.

Parents may secure tutoring schedule at the school office. The schedule is also posted in every Lincoln-Way classroom.

All contacts for tutoring must be made directly to the tutor in the town which they live and work.

NEW SHOPPING CENTER--Here is artist's conception of giant new Oakbrook Center, 110-acre shopping center which was formally opened Monday at its location on northeast corner of Route 83 and 22d St. (Cermak Road) near Elmhurst. Sawtooth malls and design of center give more store frontage space and less walking distance between shops. Parking areas surrounding the center are planned to accommodate more than 6,000 cars. Among center's outstanding stores are Marshall Field & Co. and Sears, Roebuck & Co.

LW Loses District Title Tilt To Peotone, 48 47

READ LUKE 13:9-14

The son said unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and in thy sight, and am no more worthy to be called thy son (Luke 15:21.)

Alone in a Chicago church, a young woman was practicing a solo for a service. Something caused her to glance over her shoulder. Standing behind her was a ragged, dirty man, with the saddest eyes she had ever seen. For a second her heart stood still. He quickly said, "Don't be afraid of me. My mother used to sing that song when I was a boy. I just stopped in to listen."

"Are you a Christian?" asked the girl. He shook his head. "I wish I were," he said. "But I have gone too far in sin to be worthy of the name. Maybe some day when I've straightened up my life--"

"Oh, there is no need to wait," the young woman interrupted. "Pleading guilty to sin is the first step toward salvation. What you need to do now is commit your life to Christ, believing. He will do the straightening up of your life."

Too many people plan to clean up their lives before they come to Christ. "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

PRAYER: O Lord, we know there is nothing we can do to merit salvation, for by Thy grace we are saved. We thank Thee for this grace, which makes it possible for us sinners to come to Thee just as we are, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: When I confess, Christ forgives, MARIE WALSTON (Kansas)

Conference Champs

Eagles Finish Regular Season On 19th Win, Whip Bremen 66-42

BY GEORGE FREED

Carl Sandburg's high-flying Eagles copped all the cookies in the Southwest Suburban conference. The varsity took the championship on an unblemished 14-0 season and the frosh-sophs topped the eight schools in the loop, winning thirteen times and losing only once. The varsity also produced the league's leading scorer in Lance Roberts, 6'5" senior, who tallied 323 points for an average of 23 a game.

In a shooting duel last Friday night between the two leading marksmen in the conference, Roberts outgunned Bremen's Al Lussow 26-16 as the Eagles scalped the Braves 66-42. Eagle sophomore guard Dick Hlavek scored 17 points in the win over the fifth placers.

Congratulations are in order to varsity coach Bill Adams and frosh-soph coach John Wilson for a job well done in leading both teams to conference championships.

Coach Adams has done a terrific job of building a championship team around Lance Roberts, the only regular from last year's squad. Roberts and two junior varsity players, Jim Lavine and John DeVoursney, plus Dan Wasick, star of the frosh-soph team of two years ago and Dick Hlavek, up from last year's frosh-sophs comprised the starting five with junior Dick Carlson and senior Terry Young and sixth and seventh men. The varsity record on the season is 19 - 4.

Coach Wilson's team bested the Braves frosh-sophs Friday 58-35 for their 13th win. Their only loss was to Rich East in their second time around by only three points 50 - 47.

Ernie Sharpe, Jim Roberts, Pat Heniff, Jim Foley and Jim Schroeder are the boys responsible for a highly successful season.

REGIONAL

At this writing the Eagles were heavily favored to cop their regional opener on Tuesday against St. Francis DeSales in preparing for their semi-final encounter with the winner of the Thornridge - Thornton Fractional South game tonight (Thursday).

If predictions are correct, Thornton should be meeting Blue Island in the second game of the evening on Thursday. The two Thursday winners will meet on Friday night at 7:30 for the regional championship. The tourney winner will then go on to the sectional tournament at Harvey, March 14-16.

Sandburg topped Thornridge by nine points in the season opener but needed an extra period to get by T.F.S. also early in this year's campaign. The Eagles and the Thornridge Falcons have both improved and if they meet tonight, the outcome will tell who has gained the most experience. Getting by the first two teams leads up to the game of the year for the Eagles which would pit them against Thornton Township, champions of the South Suburban conference this year and second in the state last year.

Green Garden Woman Dies In Car-Truck Collision

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon for Mrs. Lizzy Wille, 79, of Green Garden, Will county's second traffic accident victim of the current year.

Mrs. Wille was killed late Friday afternoon when the car in which she was riding with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sangmeister, collided with a farm truck driven by John Guilden-zoph, 41, of Rt. 2, Manhattan, at the intersection of Spencer and Baker roads.

Mrs. Wille, who was seated between her daughter and son-in-law apparently was thrown against the windshield and her neck broken, according to Coroner Willard G. Blood.

Mrs. Wille and Mrs. Sangmeister were taken to Silver Cross hospital by Glenn Ruthenbeck, New Lenox twp. At the hospital it was found that Mrs. Wille was dead. It was believed that Mrs. Sangmeister had a possible leg fracture but x-ray examination failed to disclose it.

Removal was to the Hirsch chapel at Tinley Park where the body remained until Monday afternoon when it was taken to St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church at Country Club Hills where services were conducted by the Rev. Henry Meyer. Interment was in the church cemetery.

PROPOSED NEW BUILDING--This is an artist's sketch of the proposed new exhibition building for the Fred H. Francis 4-H Field at New Lenox. Clubs in both Will County and Cook County are expected to benefit from the use of the new facility. A fund drive to pay for the 80,000 square foot building is now underway.

Francis Field 4-H Center Is Just Four Years Old

Four years ago an 18-acre tract of land near New Lenox was a horse pasture and farmland. Today that same land represents an idea taking form. In four years' time the land changed from a farm to a county 4-H center.

Will County's new 4-H home is the Fred A. Francis 4-H Field. Located on Francis Road east of New Lenox, the site represents many years of planning and building. The land was given to Will

County 4-H'ers by Mrs. Fred A. Francis and her family. In appreciation, Will County 4-H leaders and friends have named the 4-H center Fred A. Francis 4-H Field.

The 4-H Field at present has two buildings, flagpole, a fireplace, outdoor show ring and announcer's booth. These facilities represent the result of cooperative efforts shown by adult groups, 4-H clubs, and interested persons. The buildings at the 4-H Field are all paid for. It was provided from a county-wide rural area fund drive and money-making events sponsored by 4-H clubs and adult groups. Besides actual financial support, many persons spent time to complete the buildings at the 4-H Field.

One building is a combined livestock shelter and indoor show arena. The livestock center is huge, fourteen thousand square feet, and involved much planning and many hours of labor. Complete with electric lighting, a sound system, and washrack, the livestock shelter demonstrates what cooperation and will power can do.

A utility building is the second structure at the 4-H Field. Situated inside a grove of osage-orange trees the concrete block building houses food handling facilities, rest rooms, meeting and store-room. It also has electrical and plumbing systems. Picnic tables are available during the summer for family groups seeking a nice picnic area. The osage orange trees provide cooling shade besides adding some natural beauty to the site.

PROPOSED BUILDING

Included in the building program is a third structure, the proposed 4-H exhibition building. At present business leaders are contributing funds for this building. Under the leadership of H.G. Carr and his sixteen-member steering committee, the 4-H Exhibition Building will be a reality. It will be 80,000 square feet and heated for year-round 4-H activity. Many 4-H events can be held in this structure along with other community projects.

Although the 4-H Field building program is not finished, a good start has been made. One man, Fred A. Francis, had an idea for a county 4-H center many years ago. Today that one man's idea has become the labor, ambitions, and desires of many Will County 4-H'ers, leaders, parents, and interested friends. They share an idea and are witnessing a reality.

Leaders Are Vital To 4-H Club Work

Leading a local 4-H club is a year round job. It involves time spent at regular club meetings, committee meetings, leader training programs, and county 4-H events. Also many leaders devote much time helping individual 4-H'ers with their projects.

A 4-H leader receives no financial reward for their trials and tribulations. Working as a volunteer, the 4-H leader enjoys the satisfaction of helping youngsters.

Twenty 4-H clubs offer animal and other agricultural projects to its members. These clubs also provide electricity, entomology, flower gardening, forestry, gardening, and home grounds improvement project work. Handicraft, photography, indoor gardening, and bird study are some other projects offered.

Sixteen of Will County's 24 townships have a local 4-H club. The club's and their leaders are:

Barbers Corners 4-H - Orman Boldt, Lemont;

Crete 4-H Boosters - Fred Seggebruch, Crete;

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

TO 4-H CLUB MEMBERS:

Greetings and good wishes on your forthcoming observance of National 4-H Club Week. You deserve congratulations for the fine record you have achieved in your program stressing the four-fold development of Head, Heart, Hands, and Health. In 4-H you develop mentally as well as physically, benefiting from the guidance of parents and public-spirited leaders. You also contribute to a more responsible and competent citizenship -- which is today's greatest challenge to young people.

I would commend you especially for your constructive and worthwhile efforts in learning to live and work cooperatively with others. Your promotion of goodwill and friendly association with other people, and your ever-enlarging circles of friendship, will help bring about better and happier relations at home and abroad.

Already you have built bridges of understanding to more than 50 other lands with 4-H or parallel organizations, and I trust your program will continue to grow and expand. May each of you influence other boys and girls, other young men and women, to join you in learning, living, and serving through 4-H.

John F. Kennedy

Our Cover . . .

For the cover of this special supplement saluting 4-H, we have chosen Leslie and Elaine Yunker, two of the Golden Triangle's most outstanding 4-H members.

Leslie will be 19 in May and has spent nearly 9 years in 4-H work. He is presently a member of the Orland Boys Club and is studying business at Joliet Junior College.

Elaine is 17 and has spent nearly eight years in 4-H Club work. She is a member of the Alpine Girls club and is a senior at Carl Sandburg High School. Elaine plans to attend the University of Illinois where she will study home economics.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Yunker have four active 4-H members in their family and two more excellent prospects. Melvin 16, and Larry 11, are members of the Orland Boys Club and Marilyn, 9 is expecting to join a club as soon as she is 10. Donna Mae the baby of the family, is two. The whole Yunker clan is actively engaged in farming at 151st Street near Wolf Road.

LAND GRANT ACT LED TO FORMING OF 4-H

Responsible for the county 4-H program are the county farm or home adviser and their assistants. Guided by county extension councils and committees, the county extension staff conducts the 4-H program as part of the land-grant college system. As employees of the University of Illinois, which is the land-grant college in Illinois, county extension workers are observing the centennial of the land-grant college system this year.

On July 2, 1862, President Abraham Lincoln signed the Morrill Act into law. The law provided each state with a grant of land from Federal holdings for the establishment of a college for the teaching of mechanics and agriculture. Today institutions such as the University of Illinois at Urbana are reflections of the foresight of the nation's earlier leaders.

An Illinois college professor and friend of Lincoln, Jonathan Baldwin

Turner, was instrumental in helping start the land-grant college system. Long before Lincoln signed the law and before Justin Smith Morrill of Vermont introduced his bill, J.B. Turner was promoting it. The college professor from Jacksonville, Ill., traveled the state and country encouraging support of his idea. He got Morrill to introduce the bill after much persuasion. Lincoln and Stephen Douglas both promised Turner to approve the bill if elected president.

After the bill was passed Professor Turner spent much time convincing the Illinois legislature of a need for the mechanical and agriculture school. Finally five years and five months after the Morrill Act was law, Illinois had its land-grant college. Champaign-Urbana was selected for the site.

Professor Turner's influence continues to this day. Down in Fayette County, Ill., Jonathan Baldwin Turner's great grandson

J.B. Turner is a farm adviser. The 4-H is part of the county extension program in Fayette County. Ask A.A. Wicklein, Will County Farm Adviser, about it. Mr. Wicklein served as an assistant farm adviser in Fayette County with J. B. Turner, great grandson of Jonathan Baldwin Turner.

Many persons and years later, the organization for extending the educational facilities of land-grant colleges was formed. This organization is today known as the Cooperative Extension Service. It is cooperative because federal, state, and county sources support and promote it; 4-H is the youth phase of each county extension program.

Without Jonathan Baldwin Turner, Lincoln, and the land-grant college system, 4-H would not be a reality. Because of a few men's desires for every interested person to acquire a better education the land-grant college, the extension service and 4-H exist today.

EDITORIAL

Thank You President Lincoln

When President Lincoln signed into law a bill that eventually led to the establishment of 68 land-grant colleges and universities he hoped "to promote the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes in the several pursuits and professions in life."

Even though Lincoln was saddened by civil strife which was tearing the nation apart, he did envision a United States where higher education would be available to all.

Would he be comforted to know that well over half a million students are enrolled in land-grant institutions? Or that these educational establishments also are the fountainhead of agricultural, technological and scientific knowledge for the very young?

For more than a half century, our land-grant universities and colleges have been "extending" such information to 4-H Club members. Today more than 93,000 clubs, from Maine to California, are well into the 1962 program.

The agency that directs 4-H work is the Cooperative Extension Service, an educational arm of the land-grant system and the USDA. One of its functions is to supervise extension personnel and 4-H activities in some 3,000 counties involving 400,000 volunteer adult leaders, and 2.3 million 4-H'ers between the ages of 10 and 21 years.

As times have changed and population shifted, so have the Extension Service and its 4-H program devoted to the fourfold development of boys and girls: Head, Heart, Hands and Health pledged to clearer thinking, greater loyalty, larger service and better living.

This week (March 3-10) the entire nation joins in the celebration of National 4-H Club Week. President Kennedy has taken time to convey a special message to the 4-H'ers and plans to see a delegation in his White House office. Statesmen, business and civic leaders, and parents will participate in local, state and national events to mark the week.

And we have good reason to rejoice over our 4-H Clubs for they now have counterparts in at least 70 foreign countries.

Mr. Lincoln would take great comfort in that fact alone, we think. His sombre countenance might even light up with one of his rare smiles if he could see the widespread results of the stroke of his quill when he signed the land-grant bill a hundred years ago.

Let us hope and pray that the land-grant system will continue to flourish unhampered, and the 4-H with it, for the next 100 years.

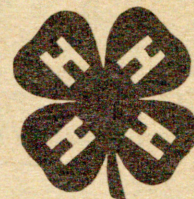

LEARNING TO SWIM -- At 4-H Camp Shaw-waw-nas-see, Will County 4-H'ers try out the arm stroke. Doug Thomas, camp swimming instructor, is showing the youngsters how. The swimming pool is the newest facility at the 4-H camp located near Kankakee. Besides swimming, the 4-H'ers have a week full of crafts, nature, dancing, sports, games, and good food. New Lenox Bronc Busters Emphasize Horsemanship

The New Lenox 4-H Bronc Busters Club was formed in 1957 with Glenn Valy and Don Warning as leaders. In 1961 Mrs. Glenn Valy and Mrs. Robert Hafk joined the club as additional leaders and assisted with the club's horsemanship project and added home economics, handicraft and photography projects.

The Bronc Busters Club has 35 members. Present officers are: Amy Goodwin, president; George Anderson, vice president; Faye Anderson, secretary; Greg Carlson, treasurer and Billie Jean Hafk, reporter. Delegates are George and Faye Anderson. Alternate delegates are Amy and Peter Goodwin.

For their project, horsemanship, the members have learned how to groom their horses for a show and the proper way to ride. They learn how to accept their project ribbons with criticism. Their horsemanship project gives them a sense of responsibility and they have learned that no job is so well done that it can not be done a little better with more effort.

Last March the members went on a hay rack party and enjoyed square dancing. In April they participated in Share the Fun night and took a first place rating in three squares of dancers.

The members worked out their horses in May and passed the requirements at the Fred Francis 4-H grounds. In June found the group enjoying a two day trail ride in Cook County. Their headquarters were set up at Treadway's T T Ranch.

The Bronc Busters worked out their horses during July and August at Hawthorn Acres, the home of Glenn Valy. The leaders worked with the members. They passed requirements and practiced for their 4-H horsemanship show and enjoyed swimming in the Valy's pool.

The girls participating in home economics and photography held meetings with Mrs. Valy and Mrs. Hafk. Judy West took state honors in her first year of photography and went to Springfield with her project.

Lloyd Uthe was awarded an honor certificate in horsemanship. In the county 4-H horsemanship show the club took three out of four trophies awarded.

Amy Goodwin won the pleasure class, Peter Goodwin took the trophy in the clover leaf class and trail class trophy went to Judy West.

A trail ride was held in September and the members practiced safety in horsemanship. They learned to be alert when riding and to check equipment at short intervals.

In October they went on a tour of the Robert French farm in Frankfort, where they saw a horse that was 41 years old. They also visited the Green Valley Farm and saw an operating table for horses and X-rays of horses.

The Bronc Busters' achievement award night and Yule party were combined. Joseph Jopek, assistant Will County farm advisor, awarded certificates of achievements and pins to first year members. Other members received pins and gold seals for additional years in club work. Judy West gave a talk on the 4-H creed and its meaning.

Each month members give talks or demonstrations to complete their projects. Guest caller for square dancing was Tom Treadway of Palos Park. In January the club's major subject was a movie prepared by the American Quarter Horse Association.

Their last month for a 12 month report was February at which time Dr. R. H. Killian of Mokena spoke on oral health.

Busy Year For Boots And Saddles Club

The Plainfield Boots and Saddles 4-H club members have had a busy and successful year, under the leadership of Ed Failing and Rex Gabriel. James Rogers of Normantown recently accepted the role of co-leader since Gabriel resigned. Members who were elected to serve during the 1961-1962 year are Joe Bradley, president; Gary Failing, vice-president; Kathy Haywood, secretary; Linda Rogers, treasurer; Ramona Kaatz, reporter. Bob Rogers and Gary Failing were appointed as federation delegates, with Bob Sedlacek and Ramona Kaatz as alternates.

A leathercraft project was scheduled by the leaders and work sessions were held. This enabled members to learn a new skill and also exhibit their work at the 4-H Fair. Ronald Failing won a blue ribbon with one of his leathercraft articles, and it was exhibited at the State Fair, winning third. Ronnie also won a blue ribbon on this photography project at the Will County 4-H Fair. Ramona Kaatz won a blue ribbon on her entomology project, and was also awarded a medal on the project as county outstanding winner. Her handicraft project, a plastic poodle, was awarded a blue ribbon.

Last September the club members planned and sponsored a Jr. Horse Show. It was held at the Plainfield Athletic Field. The group worked out a schedule for sixteen events. Gabriel was the announcer for the various events and Failing served as ringmaster. Cecile Carl was the judge. Jan Niver won the John Kaatz Memorial Traveling Trophy. Bob Rogers won a saddle blanket as high point boy. Bonnie Brands won a saddle blanket as high point girl. Ribbon awards were given the first three places in each event. A portion of the show's fund was donated to the Fred A. Francis Field.

The Boots and Saddles 4-H members took part in a community service by having a special Christmas party for 31 oldsters at the Sunny Hill Home. The members

Plainfield Stir N' Stitch Is Active Will County Unit

The "Plainfield Stitch 'n Stir Club" charter, with its ten gold stars, dates back to April of 1952.

At that time, there was an enrollment of 60 girls in "The Clever Maiden's Club". In order to give each girl the attention needed, the leaders decided to branch out into two groups.

Mrs. John Herron and Mrs. Ralph Snook continued to guide the "Clever Maidens". This was composed of the girls from the eighth grade through 20 year old age bracket.

Mrs. Walter Niehus and Mrs. D. E. Bourrie took over the leadership of the younger girls. Those enrolled in the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh grades became the "Plainfield Stitch 'n Stir Club".

New clubs were formed as the membership continued to grow. Today, there are a total of five home economics clubs in the Plainfield area.

Mrs. Niehus has completed 15 years of service in 4-H and retired from 4-H resuming her teaching career. Mrs. Bourrie took over complete leadership of the group. She is completing her 12th year in club work.

The 4-H Pledge is not just a lot of idle words, as far as these girls are concerned. "I pledge my head to clearer thinking" ----- Besides learning the basic rules of good homemaking, the girls are taught cooking, sewing, knitting, entertaining, flower arranging, mosaics, aluminum work, baby-sitting, photography, indoor gardening, and net treecraft. Along these lines, they are taught to give talks and demonstrations, along with the actual work, by which they and others can learn.

"my heart to greater loyalty" -- No matter what project they undertake, they finish with top-quality work. Besides the many county awards the girls in the club earned, several of them came away with state awards. Not only did the "Stitch 'n Stir Club" participate in the Plainfield Homecoming Parade, it came away with first prize in the "non-commercial class. Their float, entitled -- "Readin', 'Ritin' and 'Rithmetic" depicted an old-fashioned class room.

"my hands to larger service" -- Even the icy roads and zero weather didn't dampen the enthusiasm of the girls as they participated in the "March of Dimes". A Christmas basket for a needy family was another service rendered by the club. The "Heart Fund", too, will be richer because of the help these girls are giving to it. All of these projects teach the girls to be better citizens.

"and my health to better living" -- Annual check-ups and dental checks are encouraged. Health and safety talks and demonstrations are given at the meetings. Through these, the girls learn how to preserve their good health.

The club started off the season with a fun-filled night. A hay-rack ride, with a weiner roast sandwiched in-between, was enjoyed by the Club in October.

Day camp is another red-letter day for the Club. The girls enjoy a day with the other girls in the county, renewing past acquaintances and making new friends. They return home, in the early evening, after a day filled with games, crafts, stunts and recreation.

The annual tour, which includes a "Behind-the-scenes" trek through a food and clothing business, is another high-light in the Club year.

Achievement Night, just before the county show, is a reminder that their projects must be finished. Several clubs share this project. They are aided by the Home Bureau. Along with the many project displays, talks, demonstrations and skits, a style revue is also given.

The year wouldn't be complete without participation in the "Share The Fun" night. The club unites with all the other clubs in the area for a fun-filled night. The biggest fun-filled event that any 4-H girl can participate in, is the week spent at the 4-H Camp Shaw-waw-nas-see.

These are the many things that the girls are taught in order that their lives may be fuller and more useful for "my club, my community, and my country".

Rich Bremen Club Notes 20th Year

The Rich-Bremen 4-H Club is now entering its 20th year as an active club in the community of Tinley Park. It was organized in 1942 with 10 members. Nearly 100 members have been enrolled since then.

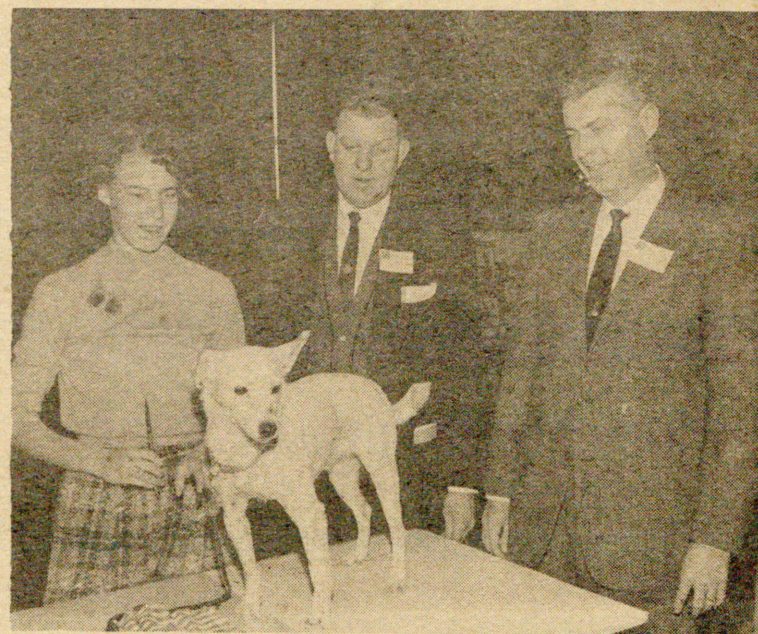

The outstanding members in 1960 were Neil Twietmeyer with state and county project honor member awards; Bill Stelter with county project honor member award and keeping fit award; Robert Wille, county project honor award and the Allis Chalmers Manufacturers special gardening award and Norman Siekman, state and county project honor award and keeping fit award.

The present officers are: Neil Twietmeyer, president; Dick Bohlman vice president; Bill Stelter, secretary - treasurer; Dennis Schmeckpeper, recreation chairman and Norman Siekman, reporter.

Some of the activities and achievements of the club during 1961 included a club picnic at Camp Shaw-waw-nau-see, sending a member to the state 4-H Club Week at the University of Illinois Campus and winning second place at the South Cook County Share The Fun and a club tour.

The club covers this area: Sauk Trail on the south, Harlem Ave. on the west, Crawford Ave. on the east and 167th on the north.

It meets the fourth Friday of every month at the Tinley Park Farm Bureau hall. Present leaders are Melvin Hoyer, Ray Meyer and Herbert Kohl.

4-H DOG DEMONSTRATOR -- Judy West, Lockport, demonstrates to Lawrence Weinbrod, Carson Pirie Scott & Co., and Jim Fauls, Nat'l Stone Co. the steps in taking care of the dog. Judy gave her demonstration at a recent meeting held to raise funds for the 4-H exhibition building at Fred A. Francis 4-H Field. Barbers Corner Club Covers DuPage Twp.

Barbers Corner 4-H Club located in DuPage Township, Will County, and was started in 1952. The leader of the club has been Orman Boldt for the past three years. Some of the other leaders of the club were Delbert Breitwiser, Earl Miesenger, Basil Bennett, Phil Petges and Wilbert Mochel. Junior Leader is John Boldt.

Officers elected for this year are president, Walter Stenzel; secretary, Sylvia Umbrassas; treasurer, David Miesenger; vice president, Richard Mass; reporter, Margaret Boldt; recreation chairman, Robert Bushing and refreshment chairman, Joe Silivka. Federation delegates are John Boldt and Walter Stenzel; alternates are Richard Mass and Dale Miesenger.

During the past year Barbers Corner 4-H was an Achievement Club again. All members were achievement members, by completing and showing their projects. The members received many ribbons in shows at Fred Francis Field. Dave Miesenger has had Grand Champion fat lamb for three years. This is Dave's 5th year in 4-H work. Kenneth Boldt had the Grand Champion pen of pullets for 1961. He is in his third year of club work and has taken poultry each year. Margaret Boldt had Reserve Grand Champion for 1961. She has been in club work three years.

The club has sponsored a bake sale the last three years and donated the proceeds to the Fred Francis Field. They sponsored a roller skating party last year and are planning another party to be held on March 19, at Lockport Roller Rink.

They have participated in the window display held each year, and have made one for this week.

Each year some of the members go to camp. In '62 two of the members are planning to go to Springfield with the 4-H Chorus which is planning three concerts there.

The club holds its meetings on the third Monday of the month. It meets at Valley View School and welcomes any boy or girl who will be ten years old by July 1, 1962.

A project tour is taken each year. It begins by meeting at Valley View School and continues to each member's home viewing their projects. Refreshments are served at the last member's home.

After County show, an achievement night is held. Each member brings the trophies and ribbons they have won. They talk about their projects and what award they received for each one. The public and parents are invited.

This year will be John Boldt's last year as a member since he will reach age 21. He will graduate from 4-H after being a member for eleven years.

THE LATEST HAT FASHIONS -- The "crazy hat" contest is held each year as a part of the county 4-H Rally. These 4-H'ers exhibit some of their crazy hats. Mrs. Ed McDonald, Joliet, has been judge of the crazy hat contest for two years.

Congratulations, 4-H'ers

Name Homer Fireflies Top Will County Club

The "Homer Fireflies" 4-H Club, the Agricultural Club of the Year for 1961 in Will County, has now completed 23 years in the Homer Area. This club had its beginning in 1938 and was known as the Homer Husky Hustlers. It's name was changed to the present one in 1959, still serving a need in a growing community.

Over the years the Homer Fireflies have provided a complete program for youngsters in projects, activities, demonstrations, judging, music, recreation, health, public speaking, safety, electricity and camping - a complete program for the youth of the community. No program is complete without a sponsoring institution and the Homer Congregational Church has provided a grand meeting place and some of the club's leaders in the past.

The present officers of the Homer Fireflies are: Chuck Baxa-president; Maureen Kennedy-vice president; Kathleen Kennedy-Secretary; Mark Zander - treasurer and Nandra Cagwin-reporter.

Leaders are: Cathy Zander-jr. leader, Ron Baxa-jr. leader and Thomas E. Zander Sr.-sr. leader.

The club meets every first Saturday of the month, 2:30 p.m. at the Homer Congregational Church. The year 1961 was one of the most successful years of the Homer Fireflies - in winning the Club of the Year Award an outstanding effort of all members was needed. A 98% record was made in project completions, and for the first year of its history the Homer Fireflies Ag Club became the second club in Will County to admit the Home Economics Program, thereby providing a complete balanced program for both boys and girls. The club is proud of the record set by the four, first year members carrying home economics projects: Susan Cagwin, Kathy Kennedy, Nandra Cagwin, Georgette Zander; all Class 'A' Blue Ribbon winners. Junior Leader Cathy Zander is to be congratulated on the fine job she did with the girls.

County Project honors went to John Lobick, Dave Bier, Tom Zander and Mark Zander. State Project honors went to Dave Bier, Tom Zander and Mark Zander.

Membership for the current 4-H year has already shown a marked increase, which speaks well for our program and community.

Alpine Girls Attain 100% Achievement

The Alpine Girls 4-H club was formed Feb. 9, 1953 in the Harwood Stellwagen home where the meetings were held each month for the first two years. At which time the club grew to the point that the meetings were held in the Maue school. It was established to include any girl in this part of the Cook County who is between the age of 10 and 20 and interested in 4-H work.

At each meeting a business session is held and a program presented, consisting of talks, demonstrations, and musical numbers, some recreation and refreshments at each meeting. Projects in home economics and agriculture as well as many activities, such as health, safety, music, share the fun, window display, 4-H camp, keeping fit, judging and tours are part of the program.

The club plans to take a tour each year, visiting places of interest in connection with projects it is working on. Members do some community welfare work each year. At Christmas we make soap and wash cloth dogs for orphans.

Objectives are to develop talents for greater usefulness; join with friends for work, fun and fellowship learn to live in a changing world; choose a way to earn a living; produce food and fiber for home and market; create better homes and market; conserve nature's resources for security and happiness; build health for a strong America; share responsibilities for community improvements and serve as citizens in maintaining a world peace.

Mrs. Harwood Stellwagen, who is leading the club for the tenth year is assisted by Marie Meier, Betty Jean Stellwagen, Kay Maue, Elaine Yunker, and Joan Stellwagen.

100% ACHIEVEMENT

This was a 100% achievement club last year, which means that each member has completed all the requirements of at least one project, also each gave a talk or demonstration, made an exhibit, completed the record book and attended two-thirds of the meetings after she enrolled.

New members this year include, Gayle Bernard, Janet Coleman, Alice and Evelyn Redman, Patti Morris, Sue Hitz, Patti Morris, Mary Jane Stellwagen and Susan Strassenburg. Second year in club work are, Patricia Carl, Linda Cole, Rosemary Doctor, JoAnn Koehne, Joyce Laufer, Judy Shepard, Linda Srebra and Sharon Tilsy. Third year girl is Michal Nemoyer. Fourth year members are Carol Bettenhausen, Diane Coleman, Kathy Doctor, Janis Gee, and Pamela Koester. Barbara Strassenburg is a fifth year member, Janice Knieriem has been in six years, Joan Stellwagen is a seven year member, Elaine Yunker has been in eight years. Those who have been in from the clubs beginning, tenth year are; Kay Maue, Marie Meier and Betty Jean Stellwagen.

At the present time the president is Barbara Strassenburg; vice president, Carol Bettenhausen, secretary; Diane Coleman, treasurer; Janice Knieriem, reporter, Janis Gee; recreation and Kathy Doctor.

The club has a window display in Yunker Implement Co. Route 6 & 7 for 4-H week. They also held a bake sale March 3 from 9 to 12, profits going to the fund for the new building on the Fred Frances 4-H Field.

Clover Belles Are Active In Tinley Park

Mrs. Katherine Ihlenfeld, co-leader of the Clover Belles 4-H Club, has started her 25th year in 4-H Club work. Mrs. Irwin Hoyer is also a leader of the club. There are 15 members in the club this year. Officers are: Candice Pettit, president; Sharon Leto, vice president; Carla Barr, secretary; Carol Ann Vanderwall, treasurer; Susan Nalepka, reporter and Jean Schilling, program chairman. The Clover Belles Club is active in home economics and agriculture.

In Home Economics the projects are sewing, clothing, cooking, flower arrangements and party-a-month. There are, of course, many more projects for members to choose from.

As far as outside activity is concerned, the Clover Belles helped the Tinley Park Library with their entertainment by putting on a Hawaiian Dance last summer. They also participated in the Tinley Park Garden Club Flower Show. This club and two other Tinley Park Clubs prepared a table display of all the projects carried.

There were two outstanding members and two project honor members last year.

The Clover Belles are again planning a window display for "4-H Club Week". They will take part in Share the Fun as last year.

New Lenox Hayshakers Urbanizing

The New Lenox Hayshakers are an agricultural 4-H Club serving the New Lenox, Mokena and Frankfort area. It is a direct descendant of the Frankfort-New Lenox 4-H Club which was led for so many years by Fred A. Francis, in whose memory the 4-H Field on Francis Rd. was donated by his widow.

It therefore is only natural that the Hayshakers community service project for this year is to assist the Francis Field fund drive in its goal of giving Will County 4-H a permanent home at Francis Field.

The club takes part in other activities: Beef, lamb, dairy, entomology, tractor care, gardening, crops and other projects; judging contests, demonstrations, speeches, club tours, rallies, fairs and other activities.

The officers of the New Lenox Hayshakers are Dick Davis, president; Marilyn Matasovic, vice president; Judy Davis, secretary; David Braley, treasurer and Jack Chestnut, program chairman.

This club is more and more feeling the effect of urbanization in the area it serves as indicated by the increased interest in the small animal projects and other projects suited to the suburbanite. The club at present lacks the older, experienced members but the second and third year members are doing well in accepting their share of responsibility.

Busy 66 Work To Make The Best Better

"To Make the Best Better" is possible says the Busy-66 4-H after six years of learning, living, and serving through 4-H club work.

The club was organized in 1956 by Mrs. Roger O. Pierce, who still is leader of the group. At the present time there is a membership of 21 girls, the majority of whom are taking food and clothing projects. The meetings are held on the second Monday of each month at Cass School on Bailey Road near U.S. 66, northeast of Lemont. At each meeting a business session is held, followed by a program consisting of talks, demonstrations, music, some recreation, and refreshments.

Plans have been made for tours of a clothing store and food store on the Wednesday during school spring vacation. Also being discussed is a possible group camp-out this summer.

As a club project, the girls are planning to make materials to be used by retarded children. At the present time they have a window display in "The Country Super Mart" during the 4-H week.

The week of March 11 to 16 is educational channel 11 -- WTTW's -- fund drive, which the girls are aiding by presenting, on March 23, a comedy play "Elmer Cleans Up", all proceeds from which will go to TV Channel 11.

Nancy Biermann is the junior leader and has been a member of the group for six years. Officers are Nancy Wallace, president; Yvonne McFarland, vice - president; Frances Luchsinger, secretary; Linda Hubka, treasurer; Toni Malek, news reporter; Martha Smith, recreation chairman; Ellen Hajek, song leader. Other members are Barbara and Mary Ann Counsell, Deborah Jones, Donna Joukema, Joann Genc, Michele Matousek, Pamela McEvoy, Jamie and Patrice Modek, Donna Modgling, Therese Schmidt, Patsy Walsh, and Dawn Kopta.

Two assistant leaders have joined the group this year -- Mrs. Henry Joukema and Mrs. Carl Ramaker. Mrs. Ramaker has cooking classes each month for the girls taking food projects. Mrs. Joukema has weekly first year sewing classes in her home. Mrs. Pierce has weekly advanced sewing classes at her home.

The group has had 100% achievement for the last four years--each member of the Busy-66 had completed all the requirements of at least one project. All the girls are looking forward to DuPage County Fair time again this summer. Here they have an opportunity to exhibit their finished projects and model their garments. All girls who exhibit receive ribbons and awards.

COWS GO SHOPPING -- As another part of the 4-H Show at Hillcrest Shopping Center last September, this 4-H livestock exhibit attracted much attention. Several breeds of cattle, sheep, and goats were on display. (Strappazon Photo)

PATRIOTIC--One of the important phases of 4-H work is patriotism. Here members of the Lace 4-H Club in DuPage County take part in a flag ceremony at camp.

SMILE PRETTY -- The two Hereford steers owned by Doug Kestel, Manhattan, and Marilyn Matasovic, Mokena, refuse to cooperate with a smile. Marilyn's steer was champion Hereford and Grand Champion Steer at the 1961 4-H Show. Both Marilyn and Doug are members of the New Lenox Hayshakers 4-H Club, formerly Frankfort - New Lenox 4-H.

Green Garden Snip 'N Snack Has Outstanding Membership

The Green Garden Snip 'n' Snack 4-H Club was organized in April of 1941 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sippel with seven charter members and selected as their leader Mrs. Norman Krapf who has continuously led this club for 20 years.

For four years the membership doubled itself until now, the club retains an enrollment of between 40 - 50 members.

Four members, Mrs. Clarabelle Sippel Stevens, Mrs. Gladys Mae Krapf Knickrehm, Mrs. Joyce Scheer Hecht, and Mrs. Beverly Torok Carmichael have attended National Club Congress; 12 members have been selected to attend the State Leadership Camp; eight members belong to the Key Club; and one member has received the Junior Key Award.

Since the club's beginning 20 years ago, it has had many state fair winners. Five members have given food demonstrations with two members repeating; 17 have modeled their garments with many repeating through the years; four have demonstrated flower arranging; while many have attended foods, clothing, and flower arranging classes. Also many members have had projects sent to the State Fair in sewing, dining covers, handicraft, photography, and five year room planning. We have shared in many honors in our county in project work, demonstrations, dress revue, exhibits, window displays, Share-the-Fun, rallies, and 4-H Sunday.

The club has been active in community affairs and lending assistance in other charitable causes.

For the past three years the club has been working hard earning money for the new 4-H Francis Field by having bakery sales, a fashion show, paper drives, serving at horse shows, and handing back the project money received.

In conjunction with its program, the club plans regular visits to various industries. Trips and tours this last year have included the Garfield Park Conservatory, Stouffer's Restaurant, the Art Museum, and the Fabric House.

Each year during 4-H week the club holds a family night at which time the members are given their awards.

To complete the year's work, an Achievement program is presented to parents and friends of 4-H showing each members projects on exhibit and the modeling of the garments made.

For the past five years the club has selected a Mother and Father who are made honorary members and who help us with our projects and activities.

Lace 4-H Is Outstanding DuPage Club

The Lace 4-H club is made up of members from the Lemont-Downers Grove area and meets in the Lace School in Downers.

Ted Steiskal, Tom Slachetka and William Hauser, have taken over the leadership which Edwin Andermann had for 20 years, previously being a member himself. Joseph Bores, also a former member, is horticultural advisor to the club.

Two members, Pam and Audrey Tomera have been promoted to Junior Leaders. This year the officers are Ted Steiskal, president; Karl Steiskal, vice-president; and Russel Bores, secretary.

Last year when Pam Tomera was president, the club had a good year. In March the Window Display motto, "Bee Successful, Join 4-H", was awarded a blue ribbon and one of the three plaques presented in Du Page County.

Stephen Foster's music was the theme of the club's Music Appreciation meeting in April. In May a club citizenship program was sponsored by the American Legion in cooperation with three other clubs, the Lacettes, the Liberty Lads and the Liberty Lassies.

Project tours highlighted June's two meetings with a visit to the University of Illinois Agricultural Experimental Station. Pam Tomera, Ted and Karl Steiskal attended the county vegetable judging contest and went on to represent the county at the State Vegetable judging contest in Urbana. The club also presented a skit at the County Share - the - Fun entitled "The Cigar Salesman."

At the Du Page County Fair in July, Pam Tomera was the Grand Champion Cook in the open class Home Economics Division.

In August after 10 members were in camp, they came back to enter the Downers Grove Fall Festival and Flower Show.

After the project books were in, the club planned a hayride, but it failed to materialize because of the bad weather, and settled for a damp wienie roast last September.

A Halloween Party was planned after the October meeting.

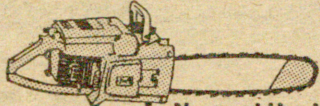

Achievement night in November awarded the club for five county outstanding members, the Steiskal brothers, Ted and Karl; and the Tomera sisters, Karen, Pam and Audrey.

December brought Christmas cheer and the club went caroling through the snow followed by a party to warm up.

Health talks were the main events of the January meeting. A film on artificial respiration supplemented the talks on safety during the February meeting.

Klover K-9's Organize And Expand In Their First Year

The Klover K-9s have had an active 1961. They started the year by choosing the name Klover K-9s and organizing the club. The officers who were elected Jan. 5, 1961 were president - Judy West; vice-president - Mary Lou Kurth, secretary - Kathy Geiss. Also at the January, 1961 meeting members were interviewed and the tape was used on the radio.

Since they were now a club there were many activities to plan. In March the window display committee worked hard and entered the Window Display contest, with a unique display of state and local dog laws.

April brought the International Dog Show. One member, Ramona Kaatz, with her deep interest in dogs, entered the junior judging and won first place over all 4-H entries in the state. This was done on her own and has been a great incentive to younger members to plan for this year's Junior Judging.

April was also share the fun month and the club entered the contest with a Canine Fashion Show. The doggie fashions were great fun for them and interesting to the audience. They were later asked to repeat their show for Youth Day at Will County's 125th Anniversary celebration.

April and May were the start of the training classes. There were classes in care and handling, which prepare the members for showing as they would in conformation classes at a regular dog show. Also there were classes for those who were interested in obedience training for their dogs. These members were taught how to train their canine pals in methods recognized by the American Kennel Club. When school was closed in June they met one night each week for training and Aug. 3, there were 21 members entered in the 1961 Will County 4-H agriculture show.

Champion dog exhibitors at the fair were Ramona Kaatz, Elizabeth Madden and Judy West. Blue ribbon winners were Donna Fraser, Pauletta Cummings, Paula Sandburg, Jane Tengdin, Kathy Geiss, Wilhelmina Kurth Danny Geiss and Cynthia Alberico.

Besides their weekly training sessions they were making plans for a Pet Show. The Pet Show was held Aug. 27, and drew 50 entries of young people and their pets; everything from cats in pajamas to a St. Bernard in hat and bib. The winners of each class competed for the big win of Best-in-show. The big moment arrived and the win went to Cynthia Alberico and her dachshund, Slippers.

During the year, the Klover K-9s had representatives at 4-H camp, 4-H officers training school and some participation in the 4-H Rally fun. One member attended the first 4-H week at the University of Illinois. Several members volunteered their service to the Stone City Kennel Club and served as stewards and runners for their June show at Francis 4-H field. Also one of their summer meeting was devoted to a safety program, which they attended at the E J & E railroad.

Two members entered the County Public Speaking and Demonstration contest. Ramona Kaatz gave an illustrated talk on Poodle trims and Judy West a demonstration on dog grooming, the latter winning alternate to state.

The club had an afternoon of fun when they invited the family to a pot luck picnic at Francis 4-H field. They first held their September business meeting and then spent the afternoon visiting and playing games. Each member contributed their own favorite game and taught the others how to play it.

With all these activities the club had a scrapbook committee that was busy cutting, clipping and pasting, preparing an entry for the scrapbook competition. It won the Agriculture Scrapbook competition and our name on the traveling plaque.

The highlight of the first year, which made all the work worthwhile is that one of our Klover K-9s won the top State Dog Care Honor. This was a well-deserved thrill for Ramona Kaatz, when on achievement night her name was called to receive the sponsors award, a beautiful wrist watch from the Purina Ralston Co.

CLUB OF THE YEAR -- Mr. Harvey Lewis, Joliet, presents 4-H Club-of-the-Year awards to Tom Zander, Sr., Lockport; Mrs. Norman Krapf, Manhattan; Mrs. Harlow Nicholson, and Mrs. Everett Hauert, Elwood. Zander's club, the Homer Fire Flies was named Agriculture Club of the Year. Mrs. Krapf's Green Garden Go-Getters shared the home economics club award with Mrs. Nicholson's and Mrs. Hauert's Jackson Livewires. Harvey Lewis, vice-president of Will County Farm Bureau, was also a county and state 4-H Alumni Award winner. (Strappazon photo)

What size Chevrolet do you want to save money on?

CHEVROLET IMPALA Room, refinement and riding comfort. Foreground, the Impala Sport Sedan.

CORVAIR MONZA Sports Car, spice without a sports car price. At rear is the Monza Club Coupe.

CHEVY II NOVA The frisky family-sized Chevrolet with a low, low price tag. Above right, Nova Sport Coupe.

Like your driving sporty, with quicksilver steering, flat-as-a-pancake cornering, sure-footed traction? Then a Corvair Monza's for you.

Or maybe the new-size Chevy II is more to your liking. Built for big families and still slips neatly into small parking places. And, with this, the kind of ingenious engineering (new easy-riding Mono-Plate rear springs, for example) that won this year's coveted Car Life Magazine Award for Engineering Excellence.

But say you want to go all out—to get the full treatment in space, spirit and splendor. Then there's nothing like a Jet-smooth Chevrolet. Makes paying more pointless.

So size 'em up—then save it up—at your Chevrolet dealer's.

1,500 Cook County Members Are Observing 4-H Week

A celebration this week in Illinois and the 49 other states, is of real significance to millions of Americans. It is National 4-H Club Week!

During National 4-H Club Week, the 1500 members in Cook county will join with the 72,000 members in Illinois, and over two million throughout the nation in a variety of activities designed to call public attention to the achievements of 4-H boys and girls and to the advantages of 4-H membership for boys and girls not yet enrolled in the organization.

The 4-H Clubs are an organization of young people engaged in "Learning by Doing" through project work.

The 4-H Program is a part of the Agricultural Extension program of the University of Illinois, College of Agriculture. The 4-H Clubs also benefit from the cooperation of public schools, civic groups, business and industry leaders.

They have as volunteer leaders in their activities, thousands of farmers, homemakers, and other adults interested in the future of the young people of our nation.

The first 4-H club was organized in Cook county in 1934. During that period of time, more than 2500 young people have participated in organized agricultural 4-H club activities.

The 4-H clubs have pioneered many improvements and innovations in agriculture and home economics, but no less important is the character building which results from membership and active participation in 4-H work. Many former 4-H'ers hold prominent places in agriculture and many walks of life.

During the year 1962, it is particularly appropriate that we note the close relationships between the Land Grant College system in 4-H Club work. For it was one hundred years ago, July 2, 1862, that President Lincoln signed the Morrill Act, which was the beginning of the Land Grant College system in the United States.

The 4-H project work has changed greatly in the past ten years, so that now projects are available which adapt themselves readily to urban and suburban family situations. It is not necessary that a 4-H member live on a farm. The benefits derived from "Learning By Doing" cooperatively with other members of local clubs, regardless of which side of the city limit-sign the home is located. For a list of the projects in which 4-H members may enroll, contact the Extension office.

There is a place in 4-H work for many more young people than are now members, and for many more adults who want to make a contribution to the welfare of young people and the progress of our country, by lending a hand in 4-H Club work.

Guided Misses Have Busy Time In Plainfield

The 4-H Guided Misses of Plainfield received their charter in 1958. It is an all age club, 10 to 21, giving each girl more opportunity to understand the full 4-H program. Mrs. Harold Greger is the leader and finds 4-H work interesting and educational and best of all she likes working with children. She is ably assisted by Mrs. Donald Thomson, Mrs. LaVerne Kramer, Mrs. Jack Bowers and many other mothers.

The projects offered are many and varied. The club offers work on foods, clothing, flower arrangements, photography, bird study and many kinds of handicraft.

Health is one of the H's in 4-H and the club has been studying various phases of health. Karen Thomson, health chairman, helped present a program on health at the January meeting of the Guided Misses. Talks, demonstrations and exhibits were given and shown. Colored slides were shown on "Food, Nutrition and Health" to stress diet as an important part of health and yet fitting into the food projects of the members. The club observed Dental Week in February by visiting a dentist's office in Plainfield to learn more about dentistry and how to give better care to teeth.

The girls, in order to aid others in better health, have been busy helping in the March of Dimes and Heart Fund drives. To go along with the study on health, the girls were given informative and educational booklets to assist them in their study on the all important subject.

As the health activity nears completion, the club is going to look over local community government as a part of the study in citizenship lead by Jill Hasen-yager. In the past there have been skits, talks and debates on what citizenship means to young 4-H girls.

The Guided Misses Club has taken the activity of fire prevention and safety and stresses main points to aid members and others on the importance of safety at all times. There is an electrical activity each year. Here the girls have fun as they find out about proper lighting through tours, exhibits, talks and demonstrations. They also take part in music, share the fun, camping and public speaking activities.

The club elected the following officers to aid in running the 50 member club efficiently and smoothly: Jackie Davis, president; Kathy Scent, vice president; Connie Gehrke, secretary; Pamela Madison, treasurer; Janet Greger, reporter; Barbara Moore, refreshment chairman; Sandy Webb, recreation chairman; Nancy Greger, program chairman and Geraldine Brady, Delores Bowers and Denise Verderber, scrapbook committee.

4-H Federation Has Program For Older 4-H Folks

The South Cook 4-H Federation was organized about 14 years ago to provide an opportunity for older members from each 4-H Club to meet together. Through this organization, older members can exchange ideas, obtain leadership and recreation training and enjoy fellowship with others their own age.

Present officers and committee chairmen of the 4-H Federation this year are: Leslie Yunker, Orland Park, president; Betty Smedley, Park Forest, vice-president; Joan Uthe, Markham, secretary; Elaine Yunker, Orland Park, treasurer; Melvin Yunker, Orland Park, recreation; Marie Meier, Orland Park, idea exchange; Roy Bettenhausen, Tinley Park, refreshments; Sheila Qunell, Park Forest, information and publicity.

The Federation meets monthly on the second Tuesday, at the Tinley Park Farm Bureau building.

A typical meeting starts with a get-acquainted game, business meeting, educational feature, fol-

Answer Parents' Questions On 4-H

What is 4-H? 4-H is a youth program based on needs and interests of boys and girls. It is an educational activity where members "Learn by Doing."

Who can belong? Any boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 21 years may join. Boys and girls who are presently 9 years old but will be 10 years old by July 1, 1962 are eligible for 1962 club membership.

Where to join? 4-H clubs are located in all localities in Cook and Will Counties so contact the club leader of the club nearest you. If there is no 4-H club, or you do not know the leader, contact the Cook county extension office in Tinley Park or the Will county Extension office in Joliet.

What do members do? Members carry on project work, exhibit and judge their projects and demonstrate the methods they have learned. The club elects its own officers, conducts programs, holds regular meetings and takes part in community activities.

What is expected of parents? Parents are expected to help and encourage their children with their projects and help out when needed. Parents should see that their children attend meetings and cooperate with local leaders.

Older Girls Give Zip To Plainfield Clever Maidens

The Plainfield Clever Maidens 4-H Club was organized in 1948 and consisted of all of the 4-H girls of the Plainfield area. However, by 1951, it had grown so large that it was decided to split the club according to ages and the older girls, 8th grade and above, retained the original name. This is the age group of the membership as it is now.

Last year, there were only 10 members in the club; three 8th graders graduated to the group and only two new members joined. As is always the case with this older group 4 or 5 girls who graduated from high school left the club and went on to college. However, this year only one girl left, 11 new members came in, two of which had not been in 4-H before this.

The officers elected for 1961-62 are president Joyce Bundy, vice president Nancy Bennett, secretary Lynn Chamberlin, treasurer Sharon Lyons, program chairman Betty DeClue, reporter Mary Kay Bourrie, recreation Mary Ann Baskerville, scrapbook chairman Pat Pershey and Janet Schuster, music Roberta Ramsey, health Jackie Bennett and Barb Kinzler, citizenship Pat Graham and telephone Kathy Johnson.

This group of officers, together with their leader, planned the meetings for the year. They know what is expected and do a fine job of carrying out the program for the year.

Since the first meeting held in September, they have had a regular business meeting each month and then an extra 'fun' session.

The girls all enjoyed planning a float for the Plainfield Homecoming Parade with the Stitch & Stir Club for which they won 1st prize in their category. Then later, together with this same club, they enjoyed a hay rack ride and wiener roast.

To initiate the new entrants into their club, the girls held a picnic. However, because of the very bad weather, it had to be held indoors but all had a good time eating lasagne and the other good food which was prepared and served by the older members.

During the Christmas season, the girls decided that they would like to go to various shut-ins around town and brighten their evening with a few carols. This was done and was climaxed with a Christmas party at the home of one of the members.

After the let-down of the holiday season, the girls planned an ice skating party at Inwood for one of the most blustery Saturdays in January. However, the weather never bothers the girls but the poor mothers who chaperoned them certainly suffered from the cold.

Along with these good times, of course, they work hard on their projects and activities. Together, all of the girls are taking a rather new project "Teen Time Food Fare". This is very beneficial to this age group because so many times, during this period of their lives, they form improper eating habits. Therefore, they are learning why it is important for them to eat balanced meals and even for their snacking, why it is better that these be nourishing foods instead of the so-called 'empty calories'. At each meeting, the hostess prepares and serves some of the good snack foods from this project book.

The various other projects that the girls are taking include several food projects, dressmaking, flower arranging, photography, bird study, indoor gardening, handicrafts, baby-sitting and one of the newer projects for high school girls, "You Buy Your Clothes."

They will also cover some of the 4-H activities with emphasis on the Health Activity for the year and citizenship. With this latter one in mind, the girls have asked for names of pen pals in other countries with whom they may correspond. This will be beneficial in acquainting them with youngsters of other countries and at the same time, help the youngsters in other lands to know us better.

This past week found the girls at a come-as-you-are Breakfast at their leader's home. As the name implies, they didn't know when this would happen and they were aroused from their beds at about 7:30 in the morning and chauffeured to their leader's home. A sleeper bunch of girls you never saw before. However, after they ate breakfast, they soon perked up and wound up playing several lively games before they were returned to their homes.

They are also helping in their communities too. They have assisted in some of the fund drives, both last year and this year too. They have also been baby-sitting for the Plainfield P.T.A. meetings for the past two years. A couple of the members from Joliet have been helping with the TB group there. Many of the girls have assisted in their churches in various ways and one of the members has been a Candy Stripper at St. Joseph's hospital.

Last year, about a half dozen of the girls went to 4-H camp and one representative attended 4-H Club week at the University of Illinois.

A couple older members belong to the 4-H Federation and Betty DeClue has an office in that group this year.

They had a fine year in 1961 and look forward and have planned for an even better year for 1962 because of the addition of so many new members. There is strength in numbers and together they hope to carry out the 4-H slogan of making the 'best, better'.

THE KILOWATT KIDS--Lynn Spencer, Lockport; Paula Baumann, Plainfield; Judy Termuende, Lockport; and Alan Heatherwick, Frankfort, show their 4-H jacket awards for their outstanding 4-H electrical program work. The youngsters were district winners and received their awards at Will County's 4-H Achievement Night.

Lincoln Lassies Are Honor Club

The Lincoln Lassies 4-H Club of Frankfort was formed when its Will County Homeadvisor, Mrs. Alma Niessner explained to the girls what 4-H meant. She handed out pamphlets and told of the many things 4-H clubs did. The girls got leaders to help them out and also got other girls interested in their club.

The Lincoln Lassies Club has three leaders, Mrs. Charles Jones, Mrs. Rudy Urbano and Mrs. Steve Kubeck. The club participated in the American Legion parade in Frankfort and won a trophy. Nearly all the girls attended day camp June 14, 1961 and some of the members went to Camp Shawanaw-see in Kankakee. The Lincoln Lassies Club is an honor club.

The officers are Carol Jones, president; Marilyn Kluth, vice president; Christine Bulanda, secretary; Donna Frankenberg, treasurer; Nancy Delaney, reporter; Gloria Kubeck, program chairman; Cheryl Wilson, song chairman and Elaine Urbano, recreation chairman. There are 14 members in the club including the officers. Other members are Frances Bulanda, Sandra Guarini, Marilyn Hicks, Corrine Janard, Susan Sluiter, and Claudette Zimmerman.

Carol Jones, 14, is the club's outstanding member. She has been in 4-H for four years and has been president of the Lincoln Lassies for two years.

Will County Has 53 4-H Clubs & 1105 Members

Will County 4-H club work, an out-of-school educational youth program, was started 36 years ago. Since that time 4-H has grown in both program depth and scope. Not only are more youngsters enrolled in 4-H but projects and activities have expanded also.

In 1962, 53 local 4-H clubs exist with 1105 4-H members. The clubs are led by 106 volunteer leaders. These men and women leaders give freely of their time and talents so many youngsters can learn, live and serve through 4-H.

It has always been thought of as a program for rural youngsters. However, 54% of Will County 4-H's live in homes located inside the county's large and small communities. To demonstrate the spread of 4-H to the county's urban centers the Federal Extension Service recently requested a more detailed report of Joliet area urban 4-H club work. Joliet was one of several Illinois communities recognized by the Federal Extension Service as an area with many urban 4-H members.

The 4-H club work is conducted through community 4-H clubs which have members plan and conduct their own local program. Besides informal training in project work, 4-H activities such as citizenship, health, judging, music appreciation, safety, public speaking, and demonstrations are offered to members.

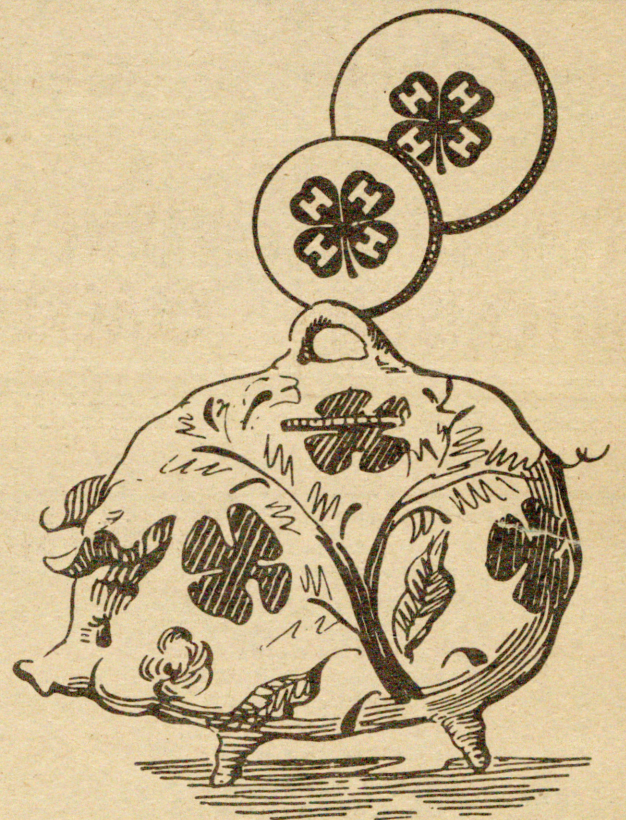

This year, Will County 4-H's will take part in many county events such as 4-H window displays, 4-H Share-the-Fun, 4-H Sunday, and the 4-H show. Many county 4-H's will participate in state-wide 4-H events. These events will include judging, camping, leadership training, and recreation.

The National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago is a week full of fun and festivities. Will County 4-H youngsters have attended the National 4-H Club Congress eighteen of the forty years it has been held.

On the local, county, state, and national levels the 4-H programs offer variety in education and personal development. If you're between the ages of 10-21 and want to take part, contact your County Farm or Home Adviser.

4-H is a good investment

We've been in the savings business for years, and we think we know a sound investment when we see one -- and 4-H Club work is such an investment. It will pay off in better homemaking, more efficient farming, and in citizens who are alert to the interests of their community, county, state, and nation.
